Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 31 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells and showers over the weekend.

Today:
A cloudy start to Saturday with scattered showers, some heavy, across the country. Turning brighter through the afternoon, with some pleasant spells of sunshine developing as showers ease. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Daytime showers continue to fade into the evening leaving a mostly dry night with clear spells for many. Feeling cooler than recent nights. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Sunday:
After a cloudy start, most places will have a bright day with sunny spells. Some showers are possible but many places staying dry. Light winds with temperatures slightly below normal. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Unsettled conditions continue into next week starting with a scattering of showers on Monday. Tuesday starts mostly dry before showers return and become heavier on Wednesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.